

Legal Publisher in Munich seeks assistant for European Commission co-funded unalex project

Project “unalex - multilingual information for the uniform interpretation of the instruments of judicial cooperation in civil matters”

English or German native speaker with law degree and knowledge / experience in international private and procedural law, for writing, editing, and translating of legal texts. French or Italian or Spanish native speakers with good German knowledge can also apply.

The project is conducted in cooperation with a group of universities from various EU Member States. The project work consists, inter alia, in the selection of international case law in the various areas of judicial cooperation in civil matters and its preparation with case headnotes and the development of so-called ‘compendia’ which provide systematic explanations of how the European Regulations are applied by the CJEU and the courts of the Member States in the European practice.

Part time preferred.

Particularly suited for younger private international law researchers.

Project period: between 12 up to 18 months

IPR Verlag is located in the heart of Munich, close to the university. Occasional home office may be considered.

If interested to join our team, please send your application and CV to:
[thomas.simons\[at\]unalex.eu](mailto:thomas.simons[at]unalex.eu)

IPR Verlag GmbH

Dr. Thomas Simons

Martiusstr. 1, 80802 Munich, Germany

For further information, please do not hesitate to contact us:

+49 (0)89 337 332