

10% Discount on the Journal of Private International Law

A substantial proportion of the people receive our content via email or RSS, rather than visiting the site directly, and thus may not have noticed a new banner at the top of the screen (decorated in shades of yellow and orange) that entitles readers of this site to a 10% discount when subscribing to the Journal of Private International Law.

Prospective subscribers can view the contents (with abstracts for each article) of the last three volumes on the Hart website. Be sure, however, to use the order form available from this website in order to receive your 10% off.