

Journal of Private International Law Conference 2009 at NYU

There are just a few places left at the Journal of Private International Law Conference 2009 - to be held at NYU from 16th - 18th April - so (if you wish to attend) I suggest that you book with all due speed.

I shall be attempting to 'live blog' the conference, alerting readers to the main points and themes from each panel. It promises to be a fantastic event, and I hope to see many of you there.