

International Max Planck Research School on Successful Dispute Resolution in International Law: Doctoral Research Positions

The Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law in Heidelberg, in cooperation with the Institute of Comparative and Private International Law, Ruprecht Karls University of Heidelberg and the Max Planck Institute for Foreign and International Criminal Law in Freiburg, is accepting applications for several doctoral research positions in the areas of international law, international private law and international criminal law beginning 1 January 2010 or later.

The Max Planck Research School on Successful Dispute Resolution in International Law will concentrate on the question which conditions must be present to successfully resolve disputes at the international level and is headed by Prof. Burkhard Hess and Prof. Rüdiger Wolfrum (both Heidelberg).

Further details and contact information can be found here.