

Towards a Coherent European Approach to Collective Redress

The Commission's consultation on collective redress, aiming to identify common legal principles on collective redress, ended in April 2011. On 15 July 2011, the European Parliament published a draft report on collective redress. I might be wrong, but I think the document has gone unfairly unnoticed. You can have a look at it here.