

Conferences Cycle on Application of Foreign law - Cour de Cassation 2017

The French Cour de Cassation promotes in 2017 a series of seven conferences on the application of foreign law, in partnership with the Société de législation comparée.

Two of them have already taken place on 20 February ("The judge's role in establishing the content of foreign law", by Jean-Pierre Ancel, former President of the First Civil Chamber of the Cour de cassation) and 20 March ("The application of uniform law and international conventions", by Jean-Baptiste Racine, University of Nice).

The five remaining conferences will be held at the Grand Chambre of the Court (5 Quai de l'Horloge, Paris) between 6 pm and 8 pm on the following dates:

- April 20, 2017: International cooperation in researching the content of foreign law (Florence Hermite)
- May 29, 2017: Optional application of foreign law in situations of availability of law and the uniform application of rules of conflict of European origin (speaker: Sabine Corneloup, University of Paris II)
- September 25, 2017: Foreign law facing the hierarchy of norms (speaker: Gustavo Cerqueira, University of Reims)
- October 23, 2017: The Cour de cassation's control in applying foreign law (speaker: Alice Meier-Bourdeau, lawyer)
- November 27, 2017: The exception of equivalence between the French law and the foreign law (speaker: Sara Godechot-Patris, University of Paris-East)

All conferences are held in French.

For more information: see Cour de Cassation.

Click here to see the whole program.