

ASIL's 2018-2019 U.S. Supreme Court "International Law" Year in Review

American Society of International Law's Dispute Resolution Interest Group will be presenting its 2018-2019 U.S. Supreme Court "International Law" Year in Review. This panel discussion will review decisions from the U.S. Supreme Court's 2018-2019 term involving issues relating to international law and/or international relations. The discussion will include an in-depth look at the reasoning behind the decisions Republic of Sudan v. Harrison and Jam v. International Finance Corp., and will look at the prospects for several Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act cases granted or pending certiorari for the upcoming 2019-2020 term, among others. Our panelists, comprising some of the leading experts on international law issues, will also explore what these decisions tell us about the current Supreme Court's views on matters of international interest, as well as the influence the newly appointed Justice Kavanaugh has had on these issues.

Please join us for a lively and interactive discussion and debate.

DETAILS:

Thursday, September 12

6-8pm

ASIL Tillar House, Washington DC

Registration is available here

PANELISTS

Lori Damrosch, Hamilton Fish Professor of International Law and Diplomacy,
Columbia Law School

Matthew McGill, Partner, Gibson Dunn LLP

David Stewart, Professor of Law, Georgetown University Law Center

Moderated by

Caroline Edsall Littleton, Jones Day

Jennifer Permesly, Skadden Arps Slate Meagher & Flom LLP