

Out now: von Bar/Mankowski, Internationales Privatrecht, 2nd edition 2019

☒ For those of you who read German it is great news that volume 2 of the leading German textbook on Private International Law, 'Internationales Privatrecht' by Christian von Bar has just been published in a second edition, now authored by Peter Mankowski. The impressive book offers a comprehensive analysis of the current framework of Private International Law concepts and rules in specific areas of law: contractual and non-contractual obligations, law of property, family law, law of succession, personal law of natural persons and company law. The book combines a didactic approach with a far-reaching comparative methodology and admirable in-depth analyses. An indispensable reference guide and source of inspiration for everyone interested in Private International Law! Highly recommended!

Further information and the table of contents can be found here and here.