

A quarterly on civil procedure ("Polish Civil Procedure") publishes a special issue on international family law with a particular focus on the Regulation 2019/1111

The quarterly "Polish Civil Procedure" ("Polski Proces Cywilny") just published a special issue on international procedural law and private international law. The issue is entirely devoted to international family law. Under the common title "New efforts in judicial cooperation in European child abduction cases", it gathers contributions drafted in English and coming from authors representing several jurisdictions.

A special attention is being given to the Regulation 2019/1111. In fact, as Editor-in-Chief of the quarterly, Karol Weitz, and his colleagues clarify in the Editorial, it is the upcoming entry into application of the Regulation that has prompted them to "invite distinguished and well-known academics from all over Europe to share their ideas [in particular on] the practical problems of its application by national courts and predicted impacts of amendments introduced pursuant to the [Regulation] as well as the outlook for the future developments in the field of European private international and procedural law, with a particular emphasis on cross-border family law matters".

In addition to the print, the contributions contained in this issue are available online. The texts themselves as well as the table of content with abstracts can be consulted here.

Single-click shortcut for our readers:

Dieter Martiny

New efforts in judicial cooperation in European child abduction cases

Burkhard Hess

Towards a Uniform Concept of Habitual Residence in European Procedural and Private International Law?

Michele Angelo Lupoi

Between parties' consent and judicial discretion: joinder of claims and transfer of cases in Regulation (EU) 2019/1111

Maciej Szpunar, Krzysztof Pacula

Forum of necessity in family law matters within the framework of EU and international law

Olga Bobrzynska

Brussels II ter Regulation and the 1996 Hague Convention on Child Protection - the interplay of the European and Hague regimes in the matters of parental responsibility

Fernando Gascón Inchausti, Pilar Peiteado Mariscal

International child abduction in the case law of the Court of Justice of the European Union: learning from the past and looking to the future

Zofia Kubicka-Grupa

A review of the Polish Supreme Court case law in international family law matters

(from January 2015 to April 2021)