Just Launched: RDIPP's New Website

The new website of the Rivista di diritto internazionale privato e processuale (RDIPP) has just been launched and is available at rdipp.unimi.it.

Giving access to the complete collection of the journal's Indexes (available both in Italian and in English), a set of useful databases to browse the journal's content, and the Table of Content of the volumes published in the Book Series Studi e pubblicazioni della Rivista di diritto internazionale privato e processuale, this new online resource is designed to disseminate the wealth of knowledge accrued with more than fifty years of Italian and European scholarship and case-law in the field of private international and procedural law.

A weekly newsletter is expected to be launched in the upcoming months to keep our community updated on the latest developments in this area of the law. You can already subscribe to it in the RDIPP network section of the website.

From the Directors and the Editorial Board of RDIPP, a very warm welcome to our pages!

The RDIPP team

With thanks to Professor Francesca C. Villata for the tip-off.