

NASAMER Law Blog by Dr. Nüsret-Semahat Arsel International Business Law Implementation and Research Center at Koç University, has been launched.

NASAMER Law Blog, by Dr. Nüsret-Semahat Arsel International Business Law Implementation and Research Center at Koç University, is an online platform featuring posts about international business law – defined broadly.

The blog has been launched in January this year with the inaugural piece written by Prof. Dr. Klaus Hopt entitled “Corporate Governance in the International Discussion”. The Academic Advisory Board of the blog is comprised of prominent scholars from the Universities of Oxford, Zürich, Singapore, LSE and Koç University.

The Editorial Board would like to invite submissions in the form of opinion & current awareness pieces discussing recent news and developments such as judgments and legislative changes and research pieces reporting on recently published or forthcoming literature such as journal articles and books, as well as on recent academic events such as conferences and workshops.

More information about the submission rules, the Academic Advisory Board, and the Editorial Board can be found on the blog website. For any inquiries, please do not hesitate to contact the editors via nasamerblog@ku.edu.tr.
