

PhD position at the University of Antwerp

The University of Antwerp has a vacancy for a PhD researcher in EU private international law, with a particular emphasis on Union citizenship and its interaction with conflict of laws. The university offers a doctoral scholarship for a period of two years. Following a positive evaluation, the scholarship can be renewed once for another two-year period. Interested persons can apply up until 8 August 2022, and the successful candidate will start on 1 October 2022.