

Online Panel on May 8: Fundamental Rights and PIL after the decision of the German Constitutional Court on the Act to Combat Child Marriages (in German)

MAX-PLANCK-INSTITUT
für ausländisches und internationales
PRIVATRECHT HAMBURG

On Monday, May 8, 2023, the Hamburg Max Planck Institute will host its 33th monthly virtual workshop Current Research in Private International Law at 3:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. (CEST). Deviating from the usual format there will be an online panel on

Fundamental Rights and PIL after the decision of the German Constitutional Court on the Act to Combat Child Marriages*

The panelists are Henning Radtke (Judge at the Constitutional Court), Dagmar Coester-Waltjen (Professor emeritus for PIL at University of Göttingen), Susanne Gössl (Professor for PIL at University of Bonn) and Lars Viellechner (Professor for Constitutional Law at University of Bremen). The discussion will be in German.

After opening statements from the panelists, the discussion will be opened to the audience. All are welcome. More information and sign-up here.

If you want to be invited to these events in the future, please write to veranstaltungen@mpipriv.de.

* Information on the decision here.