

Online seminar on International Child Abduction & Muslim (Islamic law) States: 6 December

Reminder: on 6 December from 13-14.00 GMT the University of Aberdeen,'s Centre for Private International Law is organising the second online seminar in their series . The topic of the day is Reciprocating the return of abducted children Under The 1980 Hague Child Abduction Convention with Muslim (Islamic Law) States. The speaker is Nazia Yaqub, who wrote her phd on this topic. The phd has been converted into a book in the Hart Private International Law series.

The focus of the seminar is the practical application and the challenges of the 1980 Hague Child Abduction Convention and the results of Nazia Yaqub's empirical study, for which she interviewed young people in the abduction situations.

See more information about the seminar on the Centre of Private International Law's website.
