

4 Positions for Doctoral Students Interested in “Cultural and Religious Diversity under State Law” at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle, Germany

The Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Halle, Germany, is hiring four doctoral students in the context of its project on “Cultural and Religious Diversity under State Law across Europe” (CURED). Two of the positions will be part of the research group on “Transformations in Private Law: Culture, Climate, and Technology” lead by Mareike Schmidt.

Specifically, the institute is looking for researchers interested in the following four topics:

- Asylum Law;
- Private Law;
- Law and Religion; and
- Procedural Justice.

The deadline for applications is 1 August 2024; more information is available here.