University of Edinburgh: Lecturer in Global Law

The University of Edinburgh is looking to fill a new position in Global Law – which is understood to include private international law. More here.