

Seminar: Gender-based violence across borders: challenges and opportunities to establishing routes to safety in a migratory world

Lauren Clayton-Helm and Ana Speed (both Northumbria University) are hosting a Modern Law Review funded conference at Northumbria University Law school on the 24th April entitled 'Gender-based violence across borders: challenges and opportunities to establishing routes to safety in a migratory world'.

Further information can be found on the poster.

There will be space for up to 40 attendees.

Registration is mandatory under this link.