

Call for Papers: Annual Courts and Justice Conference 2026 (4 Dec 2026, University of Nicosia)

This Call for Papers was shared with us by Procedural Law Unit of the University of Nicosia, Cyprus.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Annual Courts and Justice Conference 2026

The Algorithmic Courtroom: Trust, Accountability, and the Future of Justice

Abstract deadline:
15 September 2026

University of Nicosia, Cyprus
4 December 2026

Abstracts should be submitted by email to procedurallawunit@unic.ac.cy

Accepted contributions will be published.

Organised by: The Procedural Law Unit

Further Information: <https://www.unic.ac.cy/school-of-law/plu/>

The Procedural Law Unit is a research unit within the School of Law at the University of Nicosia, focusing on civil procedure, private international law, and broader developments in judicial process and court reform. Each year, the Unit hosts its Annual Courts and Justice Conference, which brings together academics, practitioners, judges, and policymakers to discuss contemporary issues in procedural law and justice systems.

This year's conference, the Annual Courts and Justice Conference 2026, is themed "The Algorithmic Courtroom: Trust, Accountability, and the Future of Justice", and will examine the implications of artificial intelligence in adjudication and court processes.