

Keio University Law School Book Series Seminar: Hart's Studies in Private International Law - Asia (25 September 2026, 3-4PM)

Keio University Law School in Tokyo (KLS) will be hosting a seminar entitled "Keio University Law School Book Series Seminar: Hart's Studies in Private International Law - Asia" at Room 2B12 in South Building, Keio University Mita Campus, on Friday, 25 September 2026, from 3 to 4pm.

As the readers of ConflictOfLaws.net are well aware, Studies in Private International Law - Asia is a forum for discussion and analysis of private international law issues in Asian jurisdictions, which is published under Hart's celebrated series Studies in Private International Law. This seminar aims to provide an overview of the book series to the audience. Legal practitioners, government officials, academics and students who are interested in Asian law, private international law (broadly defined) and/or law and development are welcome to join.

The seminar will be followed by a networking tea, during which interested participants may explore future publication opportunities in the Studies in Private International Law - Asia series and other Hart Publishing outlets with Justice Anselmo Reyes (General Editor of Studies in Private International Law - Asia and International Judge at Singapore International Commercial Court) and Dr Roberta Bassi (Publisher at Hart Publishing).

There is no registration fee for this event, but registration is required for catering purposes. Visit here to register.

Synopsis

Studies in Private International Law – Asia is a forum for discussion and analysis of private international law issues in Asian jurisdictions. Published under Hart's celebrated series Studies in Private International Law, this monograph sub-series provides a forum for discussion and analysis of private international law in Asia.

The series is not solely a survey of jurisdictions for practitioners. Comparing both in-depth thematic and country-specific studies, each volume considers the private international law of Asian countries from a variety of perspectives. An underlying assumption is that private international law in different jurisdictions follows broadly-discernible patterns. Each volume in this sub-series highlights these patterns and discusses how rules in different Asian jurisdictions are either converging with, or diverging from, the patterns identified. Such an analytical framework will assist academics, judges, lawyers and legislators to envisage ways in which laws affecting cross-border relationships can be harmonised across jurisdictions and be made more responsive to the needs of citizens in Asia and elsewhere.

This seminar aims to provide an overview of the book series to the audience. Legal practitioners, government officials, academics and students who are interested in Asian law, private international law (broadly defined) and/or law and development are welcome to join. The seminar will be followed by a networking tea, during which interested participants may explore future publication opportunities in the Studies in Private International Law – Asia series and other Hart Publishing outlets with Justice Academic Reyes and Dr Roberto Bassi.
