Swiss Institute of Comparative Law: 24e Journée de DIP on International Family Law

On Friday, 16th March 2012, the Swiss Institute of Comparative Law (ISDC) will host the 24th *Journée de droit international privé, organised in collaboration with the University of Lausanne (Center of Comparative Law, European Law and International Law – CDCEI). The conference will analyse the latest developments in international family law, under a Swiss and an EU perspective : "Derniers développements suisses et européens en droit international privé de la famille". Here's the programme:

Mot de bienvenue par les organisateurs (09h00 – 09h10):

- Christina Schmid (Directrice à l'Institut suisse de droit comparé);
- Andrea Bonomi (Directeur CDCEI de l'Université de Lausanne).

Première Session (09h10 – 11h00)
Le divorce et ses conséquences:

- La révision du droit international privé du divorce et de la prévoyance professionnelle, Gian Paolo Romano (Professeur, Université de Genève);
- Le droit applicable en matière de divorce selon le règlement européen Rome III, Cristina Gonzalez Beilfuss (Professeure, Université de Barcelone);
- Le droit applicable aux conséquences patrimoniales du divorce dans les Etats de l'Union européenne, Andrea Bonomi (Professeur, Université de Lausanne)
- Discussion et questions.

11h00 – 11h30 Café offert par l'Association des Alumni et Amis de l'ISDC (AiSDC)

Deuxième Session (11h30 – 13h00)
Le mariage et les actes d'état civil:

- IPR Aspekte der Zwangsheiraten, Lukas Bopp (Dr. iur., Avocat à Bâle);
- Le droit du nom entre réformes législatives et évolution du contexte européen, Michel Montini (Avocat à Neuchâtel, Maître de conférence à l'Université de Fribourg);

- Discussion et questions.

13h00 – 14h30 Déjeuner

Troisième Session (14h30 – 16h30)
La protection des mineurs:

- Nouvelles de La Haye : la Sixième réunion de la Commission spéciale sur les Conventions de 1980 et 1996, Joëlle Küng (Collaboratrice juridique, Conférence de La Haye de droit international privé);
- La jurisprudence relative au règlement européen Bruxelles II bis, Bea Verschraegen (Professeure, Université de Vienne);
- La réforme du règlement européen Bruxelles II bis, Daria Solenik (Collaboratrice scientifique à l'ISDC);
- Discussion et questions.

The conference will be held in French and German (no translation is provided). For further information (including fees) see the conference's programme and the registration form.

(Many thanks to Prof. Andrea Bonomi)

New Italian Private International Law Blog

A new blog on private international law was recently launched in Italy. It is called Aldricus, after the name of a glossator who explored private international law issues in the middle of the 12th century.

The general editor of the blog is Pietro Franzina, who teaches at the university of Ferrara. The posts are written in Italian.

Conflictoflaws.net wishes all the best to this new blog.

Van Den Eeckhout on Choice of Law in Employment Contracts

Veerle Van Den Eeckhout, who is professor of private international law at Leiden university (the Netherlands) and the University of Antwerp (Belgium), has posted Some Reflections on Recent European and Dutch Case-Law in Issues of International Labour Law (Koelzsch, Voogsgeerd, Vicoplus, Nuon-Case and Case FNV/De Mooij). Which (New) Possibilities for Argumentation for Employees to Claim (a Higher Level of) Labour Protection in International Situations? on SSRN.

The article, which is written in Dutch, offers an analysis of recent European and Dutch case-law dealing with issues of applicable law of international labour contracts.

The Dutch asbtract reads:

> Recent hebben zowel het Hof van Justitie als meerdere Nederlandse rechters zich in enkele opmerkelijke zaken uitgesproken over het op een internationale arbeidsovereenkomst toepasselijke arbeidsrecht: in de zaken Koelzsch en Voogsgeerd heeft het Hof van Justitie voor het eerst artikel 6 EVO-verdrag uitgelegd en door Nederlandse rechters zijn ophefmakende uitspraken gedaan inzake toepasselijkheid van artikel 6 Buitengewoon Besluit Arbeidsverhoudingen enerzijds, inzake een door FNV tegen " de Mooij" ingespannen zaak anderzijds. Bovendien heeft het Hof van Justitie zich in de zaak Vicoplus uitgesproken over een zaak die zich afspeelde in een context van internationale detachering en die mogelijk consequenties inhoudt voor het internationaal arbeidsecht. In deze bijdrage worden deze onderscheiden uitspraken geanalysee rd vanuit volgende invalshoek: welke argumentatiemogelijkheden kunnen deze uitspraken bieden aan werknemers die pogen (meer) arbeidsbescherming op te eisen indien hun rechtsverhouding zich in internationale context afspeelt? In deze analyse wordt ook aanda cht gegeven aan de mate waarin de uitspraken kunnen worden begrepen als zouden zij iets hebben veranderd aan de vermeende ” status quo” van het internationaal arbeidsrecht na de ophefmakende zaken Viking, Laval, Rü ffert en C./Luxemburg.

Common European Sales Law and Third State Sellers

In October 2011, the European Commission published its Proposal for a Regulation on a Common European Sales Law.

From a choice of law perspective, two important features of the Proposal are that the Common European Sales Law (CESL) would be optional, and that it would not be a 28th regime, but rather a second regime in the substantive law of each Member State. As a consequence, the CESL would only apply if the parties agree on its application, and if the law of a Member state is otherwise applicable. The CESL will, as such, never govern a contract; the law of a Member state will and, as the case may be, within this law, the CESL.

Choosing CESL when a Third State Law Governs

The problem with this regime, and more specifically with the doctrine that CESL may not apply autonomously is that it is easy to conceive many situations in which parties may want to provide for the application of CESL while the contract is otherwise governed by the law of a third state. In the European conflict of laws, the law of the seller governs (Rome I Regulation, art. 4, 1955 Hague Convention, art. 4). This means that each time the sale will involve a third state seller, the applicable law will, in all likelihood, be the law of that third state. And Europe does buy alot from third states. The factory of the world is China, not Greece.

Of course, in theory, the parties could, and indeed should, choose the law of a Member state as the governing law. Let's face it, however: there are many reasons to believe that they often will not. CESL is designed for small and medium businesses. For many, if not the majority, of these commercial people, it will be very hard to understand why choosing the CESL is not enough, and why the law of a member state must also be chosen. Indeed, at first sight, this does not look quite logical to choose the law of a particular member state after choosing European law.

If I am correct that expecting a high level of legal sophistication from small and medium businesses is unrealistic, then the result will often be a contract governed by Chinese law, with a clause providing for the application of European law.

Implicit Choice of Law?

What will happen in such cases? In theory, the answer is clear: if the law of a member state does not apply, choosing CESL is not permissible. Thus, the law of the third state will govern. Quite clearly, this will come as a big surprise for the parties.

Is there a way out of this absurd outcome? One could argue that the choice of CESL is an implicit choice for the law of a EU state. But which one? And would it be satisfactory for the Regulation to be silent on the issue?

A more responsible answer to the problem would be to provide an express solution. It could be designed either as an objective subsidiary choice of law rule, or as a presumption of the will of the parties. If the European lawmaker wanted to remain consistent with its claim that the CESL Regulation leaves the Rome I Regulation untouched, I guess that the latter solution would appear as more appealing.

The problem that I have identified will occur when the seller will have its habitual residence outside of the EU. By definition, one of the parties must have its habitual residence in the EU for the CESL to be available. The Regulation could thus provide that parties providing for the application of CESL will be presumed to have implicitly chosen the law of the habitual residence of the buyer.

An additional paragraph could be added to Article 11 of the draft Regulation along the following lines:

> (a) Where the parties have validly agreed to use the Common European Sales Law for a contract, but have not chosen the applicable law, they are presumed to have chosen the law of a Member state.
>
> (b) This law shall be the law designated by Article 4 of the Rome I Regulation or any other applicable choice of law rule.
>
> (c) If the law referred to in (b) is not the law of a Member state, this law shall be the law of the habitual residence of the buyer.

~~This proposal does not distinguish between B2B and B2C contracts, but I am not sure that's necessary.~~ I am limiting for the timebeing my analysis to B2B contracts and will discuss B2C contracts in a later post.

In any case, all comments welcome !

De Brabandere on P.R.I.M.E. Finance

Eric De Brabandere, who is an associate professor of law at Leiden University, has written an Insight at the American Society of International Law website on P.R.I.M.E. Finance: The Role and Function of the New Arbitral Institution for the Settlement of Financial Disputes in The Hague.

Fallon – Lagarde – Poillot Peruzzetto (Eds.), Quelle architecture pour un code européen de droit international privé?

On 17 and 18 March 2011 the University of Toulouse (IRDEIC) hosted a colloquium on the codification of European PIL ("Quelle architecture pour un code européen de droit international privé?"), follow-up to the conference organised in 2008 on "La matière civile et commerciale, socle d'un code européen de droit international privé?" (see the related volume). On the 2011 colloquium, see the report by Jurgen Basedow published in RabelsZ, 2011/3, p. 671 ff., and the one by Pedro de Miguel Asensio on his blog.

In his closing remarks, Paul Lagarde offered as a starting point for discussion a preliminary draft of 24 articles dealing with the general provisions of a future European PIL code ("Embryon de Règlement portant Code europeén de droit international privé"): the draft is published in RabelsZ, 2011/3, p. 673 ff.

The papers presented at the 2011 colloquium have now been published by Peter Lang, under the editorship of Marc Fallon, Paul Lagarde and Sylvaine Poillot Peruzzetto: "Quelle architecture pour un code européen de droit international privé?".

Here's the table of contents (.pdf):

- Avant-propos;
- Marc Fallon : Rapport introductif;

Première Partie. La forme et l'instrument de la codification.

- Aude Mac Eleavy Fiorini : Qu'y a-t-il en un nom ? Un vrai code pour le droit international privé européen;

Deuxième Partie. Les fondements de la codification.

- Sylvaine Poillot-Peruzzetto : La priorité de l'Espace de Liberté, de Sécurité et de Justice et l'élaboration d'un code européen de droit international privé;
- Johan Meeusen : La priorité de l'Espace de Liberté, de Sécurité et de Justice et l'élaboration d'un code européen de droit international privé. Réponse à la contribution du professeur Sylvaine Poillot-Peruzzetto;
- Miguel Gardeñes Santiago : Les exigences du marché intérieur dans la construction d'un code européen de droit international privé, en particulier la place de la confiance et de la reconnaissance mutuelle;
- Catherine Kessedjian : Un code européen au regard des objectifs du droit international privé;

Troisième Partie. Le domaine de la codification.

- Laurence Idot : Introduction;
- Marc Fallon : Le domaine spatial d'un code européen de droit international privé. Émergence et modalités de règles de caractère universel;
- Pedro A. de Miguel Asensio/Jean-Sylvestre Bergé: The Place of International Agreements and European Law in a European Code of Private International Law;
- Horatia Muir Watt : La nécessité de la division tripartite. Conflit de lois, de juridiction, règles de reconnaissance et d'exécution ?;
- Isabelle Rueda : La place de la matière administrative et des immunités au sein d'un code européen de droit international privé;
- Blanca Vilà/Michel Attal : La place de la procédure et de la coopération entre juges et acteurs nationaux. Le périmètre de la codification;

Quatrième Partie. La structure et la teneur d'une codification.

- Michael Bogdan: Some Nordic Reflections on the Desirability of an EU Code of Private International Law;
- Sabine Corneloup/Cyril Nourissat : Quelle structure pour un code européen de droit international privé ?;
- Marie-Laure Niboyet : Les règles de procédure : l'acquis et les propositions. Les interactions entre les règles nationales de procédure et les « règles judiciaires européennes »;
- Michael Wilderspin : Règles de compétence et de reconnaissance et d’exécution. L’acquis et les propositions;

- Anne Marmisse-d’Abbadie d’Arrast/Marc-Philippe Weller : Définitions autonomes et rattachements. Propos introductifs;
- Anne Marmisse-d’Abbadie d’Arrast : Qualification et concepts autonomes dans l’élaboration d’un code européen de droit international privé;
- Marc-Philippe Weller : Les rattachements dans les conflits des lois;

Cinquième Partie. Les éléments d’une partie générale.

- Stefania Bariatti/Étienne Pataut : Codification et théorie générale du droit international privé;

En guise de synthèse

- Paul Lagarde : En guise de synthèse;

Annexe

- Eugénie Fabriès-Lecea : Quelle codification pour le droit international privé européen des procédures d’insolvabilité ?

– – – –

Title: Quelle architecture pour un code européen de droit international privé?, edited by M. Fallon, P. Lagarde and S. Poillot Peruzzetto, Peter Lang (Series: Euroclio – Volume 62), Bruxelles – Bern – Berlin – Frankfurt am Main – New York – Oxford – Wien, 2011, 388 pages.

ISBN 978-90-5201-823-2 br. Price: EUR 38.

Fukuoka conference: Regulatory Hybridization in the Transnational

Sphere

Professor Toshiyuki Kono of the Kyushu University is organising a two-day international conference titled "Regulatory Hybridization in the Transnational Sphere". Motivation for choosing this particular topic and the features of the conference are described by the organiser as follows:

> [N]ational laws and public international law are no longer the exclusive regulatory authorities today. Instead, regulatory initiatives are shared by a complex network of nation States, international organizations and transnational private communities as a result of processes such as globalization, privatization, outsourcing, and self-regulation. Accordingly, national domestic laws, public international norms, and the newly proliferating private regulations co-exist in the current condition of transnational law. Furthermore, indirect connections between these three regulatory forms have increasingly developed, resulting in the proliferation of innovative hybrid forms of regulation. […]
>
> The purpose of this conference is to explore various issues relating to hybrid normative structures in the transnational sphere. For this purpose, the conference underscores inter alia the following questions:
>
> 1. If regulatory hybridization does not simply consist of a reintegration of norms, and if it is not simply the delegation of the rule-making authority to self-regulatory institutions, what precisely does the contemporary hybridization of norms refer to?
> 2. What are the primary merits & de-merits of hybrid forms of governance?
> 3. Can the proliferation of hybrid forms of governance be explained solely by reference to efficiency or is it being driven by other factors?
> 4. What conceptual tools are most helpful in clarifying the precise form of regulatory hybridization?

The conference will take place on 11 and 12 February 2012 at the Kyushu University, Nishijin Plaza, Fukuoka (Japan). Additional information is available at the conference website, including the program.

Multiple defendants and territorial intellectual property rights: Painer revisits Roche through Freeport

Our colleague Dr. Mireille van Eechoud, currently of double affiliation as an Associate Professor at the Institute for Information Law, Universiteit van Amsterdam and a Visiting Scholar at the University of Cambridge Centre for Intellectual Property and Information Law, was kind to share with us her views on the Painer case (Case C-145/10) and its relation to the preceding EU Court of Justice case law on the matter. Here is her full opinion:

> Could the CJEU's new stance on art. 6(1) Brussels Regulation 44/2001 be explained by the fact that the Court is very activist of late in shaping areas of copyright law which were not considered harmonized – of which the Painer case is itself an example? Or has the Court taken to heart the criticism unleashed by its Roche judgment on multiple defendants jurisdiction? The Advocate General certainly seemed to, citing among others the position of the European Max Planck Group on Conflict of Laws in Intellectual Property (CLIP). Whatever the reason, the Painer judgment from 1 December 2011 (Case C-145/10) signals a departure from the strict formalist-territorial approach to jurisdiction in intellectual property matters. The Court says that joining defendants under art. 6(1) Brussels Regulation is not precluded 'solely because actions against several defendants for substantially identical copyright infringements are brought on national legal grounds which vary according to the Member States concerned'.
>
> In the case at hand, a freelance photographer from Austria claimed infringement of her copyright in portrait photos. She had made a series of portrait photos of a 6 year old girl at a nursery. The girl was later abducted and spent 8 unspeakably horrible years in captivity. The photographer gave prints of the portrait photos to the parents and police. Some of them were subsequently released by Austrian authorities in the context of the search. The girl's eventual escape was a major news item across Europe. Lacking current photos, the defendant newspapers published the old portrait photos. The photographer had not been asked for permission, nor credited.

The photographer brought various actions in Austrian courts. In these disputes the question whether there was copyright in the photos, or some other right, and what the scope of such protection is under German and Austrian law was hotly debated. The proceedings which led to a preliminary reference were against five newspapers: one established in Austria, the other four in Germany. The Austrian newspaper was only distributed in Austria; the German newspapers had primary distribution in Germany with additional distribution in Austria.

So could the Austrian court assume jurisdiction for the infringements in Germany and Austria, with the Austrian newspaper as anchor-defendant under article 6 Brussels Regulation? The provision allows a plaintiff to consolidate actions against different defendants resident in the EU in one domestic court, 'provided the claims are so closely connected that it is expedient to hear and determine them together to avoid the risk of irreconcilable judgments resulting from separate proceedings'. Previously, in the much criticized case C-539/03 – Roche Nederland v. Primus, the Court ruled that a close connection requires a same situation of law and of fact. When claims concern the infringement of territorially distinct patent rights (as granted under the European Patent Convention), for that reason alone there can be no risk of irreconcilable judgments because there is no 'same situation of law'.

In Painer, the Court seems to abandon that reading. The fact that the claims against the defendants concern infringement of the territorially distinct copyrights for Germany and Austria does not of itself preclude the possibility of consolidating them on the basis of article 6 Brussels Regulation. This is the more so, the Court adds, if the applicable laws in question are very similar. The referring Austrian court had concluded that was the case: German and Austrian copyright and related rights law share essentially the regimes for photographs (which is partly due to EU harmonization).

Oddly enough, and unlike the Advocate General, the Court does not refer to its Roche judgment. Rather, it builds its reasoning primarily on Freeport (case C 98/06). There the Court stated that the fact that claims against defendants have different legal bases (e.g. in contract and tort) does not preclude application of art. 6 per se. The more obvious parallel in intellectual property matters isof course in situations where say the claim against one defendant is based in copyright infringement, and the claim against the co-defendant in contract (breach of a distribution agreement for example). I am not so sure that Freeport is easily applied to cases where infringement of copyright in different countries is at stake.

In Roche, A European Patent had been granted through the European Patent Office, which resulted in a bundle of patents for the plaintiff, each equivalent to a national patent for each of the countries applied for. The subsistence and scope of these national patents is very similar across European Patent Convention states. The criticism of (among others) CLIP is that in cases where national intellectual property rights have been unified or harmonized to a great degree, it is artificial to bar a plaintiff from joining claims merely because formally speaking different territorial rights are involved (see the CLIP position).

The defendants in Roche were all part of the same parent company, and basically sold the same allegedly infringing products in their respective local markets. Yet because each defendant acted locally (albeit under the direction of the parent), allegedly infringing the local patent, the Court did not accept there was a same situation of law and fact. In Painer, it is not clear whether there is any connection between the defendants. They may have acted similarly from the perspective of the plaintiff: each published photographs she made, over a similar period and as illustration of news about roughly the same matter. But I don't see how that qualifies as a 'same situation of fact' for art. 6 purposes. Surely, the fact that persons behave in similar ways with respect to a (potentially) copyrighted image does not make the claims closely connected?

The answer to that question is in the Court's observation that 'It is, in addition, for the referring court to assess, in the light of all the elements of the case, whether there is a connection between the different claims brought before it, that is to say a risk of irreconcilable judgments if those claims were determined separately. For that purpose, the fact that defendants against whom a copyright holder alleges substantially identical infringements of his copyright did or did not act independently may be relevant [my italics].' I would argue that whether or not the co-defendants acted independently is in cases like these not a potentially relevant factor, but a crucial factor. If not, in this case our Austrian photographer could sue before Austrian courts any of the German publishers for distributing newspapers with the photos in Germany, because a completely different unrelated paper based in Austria happened to have printed the same photo. There has to be some relationship between the defendants, or at least between the anchor-defendant and the co-defendants. If not, all that is left is the foreseeability escape the Court articulated in Freeport.

Festschrift for Bernd von Hoffmann has been released

On the occasion of Bernd von Hoffmann's 70th birthday Herbert Kronke and Karsten Thorn have edited a Festschrift entitled "Grenzen überwinden – Prinzipien bewahren" (Overcoming Borders – Preserving Principles). It has been published by Ernst und Werner Gieseking and contains contributions relating to Private International Law, International Civil Procedure, Comparative Law and International Commercial Arbitration.

The table of contents reads as follows (in brackets: first page of the contribution):

I. Internationales Privatrecht

- Marianne Andrae, Wertungswidersprüche und internationales Erbrecht (3)
- Christian Armbrüster, Das IPR der Versicherungsverträge in der Rom I-Verordnung (23)
- Gregor Bachmann, Das auf die insolvente Societas Europaea (SE) anwendbare Recht (36)
- Jürgen Basedow, Das fakultative Unionsprivatrecht und das internationale Privatrecht (50)
- Katharina Boele-Woelki, Property Relations of International Couples in Europe: The Interaction between Unifying and Harmonizing Instruments

(63)
- Nina Dethloff, Güterrecht in Europa – Perspektiven für eine Angleichung auf kollisions- und materiellrechtlicher Ebene (73)
- Erwin Deutsch, Das internationale Arzneimittelrecht nach den Rom-VO (89)
- Omaia Elwan, Qualifikation der Unzulässigkeit von Klagen aus 'urfi-Ehen im ägyptischen Recht (99)
- Martin Franzen, Neue Regeln für das IPR des Timesharing (115)
- Bettina Heiderhoff, Ist das Anerkennungsprinzip schon geltendes internationales Familienrecht in der EU? (127)
- Jan von Hein, Die Behandlung von Sicherheits- und Verhaltensregeln nach Art. 17 der Rom II-Verordnung (139)
- Dieter Henrich, Der Renvoi: Zeit für einen Abgesang? (159)
- Abbo Junker, Internationales Arbeitsvertragsrecht im Vereinigten Königreich (168)
- Eva-Maria Kieninger, Das Europäische IPR vor der Kodifikation? (184)
- Peter Kindler, Handelsvertreterrichtlinie und Rom I (198)
- Christian Kohler, Le choix de la loi applicable au divorce – Interrogations sur le règlement « Rome III » de l'Union européenne (208)
- Sebastian Krebber, Qualifikationsrechtlicher Rechtsformzwang – Der Arbeitsvertrags- und Arbeitnehmerbegriff im Europäischen Kollisions- und Verfahrensrecht (218)
- Stefan Leible, Brauchen wir noch Art. 46b EGBGB? (230)
- Luís de Lima Pinheiro, Rome I Regulation: Some Controversial Issues (242)
- Walter F. Lindacher, AGB-Verbraucherverbandsklagen bei transnationaler Klauselverwendung (258)
- Dirk Looschelders, Anpassung und ordre public im Internationalen Erbrecht (266)
- *Dieter Martiny,*Die objektive Anknüpfung atypischer und gemischter Schuldverträge (283)
- Felix Maultzsch, Privatautonomie bei reinen Inlandsfällen im Internationalen Privat-, Prozess- und Schiedsverfahrensrecht (304)
- Yuko Nishitani, Internationale Kindesentführung in Japan – Auf dem Weg zur Ratifikation des HKÜ? (319)
- Oliver Remien, Variationen zum Thema Eingriffsnormen nach Art. 9 Rom I-VO und Art. 16 Rom II-VO unter Berücksichtigung neuerer

Rechtsprechung zu Art. 7 Römer Übereinkommen (334)
- Anne Röthel, Englische family provision und ordre public (348)
- Giesela Rühl, Der Schutz des „Schwächeren“ im europäischen Kollisionsrecht (364)
- Dietrich Schefold, Zum anwendbaren Recht bei Devisenhandelsgeschäften (378)
- Boris Schinkels, Das internationalprivatrechtliche Interesse – Gedanken zur Zweckmäßigkeit eines Begriffs (390)
- Klaus Schurig, Eine hinkende Vereinheitlichung des internationalen Ehescheidungsrechts in Europa. (405)
- Andreas Schwartze, Internationales Forum Shopping mit Blick auf das günstigste Sachrecht (415)
- Kurt Siehr, Der ordre public im Zeichen der Europäischen Integration: Die Vorbehaltsklausel und die EU-Binnenbeziehung (424)
- Andreas Spickhoff, Grundfragen des Arzt-Patienten-Verhältnisses im Spiegel des Internationalen Privat- und Zivilprozessrechts (437)
- Hans Stoll, Die Kodifikation des internationalen Privatrechts der außervertraglichen Haftung im Staate Oregon, 2009 (448)
- Michael Stürner, Europäisierung des (Kollisions-)Rechts und nationaler ordre public (463)
- Jürgen Thieme, Rom I und Insolvenzverträge (483)
- Hannes Unberath, Internationale Mediation – Die Bestimmung des maßgeblichen Rechts (500)
- Marc-Philippe Weller, Brennpunkte des Insolvenzkollisionsrechts (513)
- Peter Winkler von Mohrenfels, Die Rom III-VO und die Parteiautonomie (527)

II. Internationales Zivilverfahrensrecht

- Christoph Benicke, Ordre-public-Verstoß ausländischer Adoptionsentscheidungen bei ungenügender Prüfung des Kindeswohls (545)
- Michael Bogdan, Contract or Tort under Article 5 of the Brussels I Regulation: Tertium non Datur? (561)
- Gilles Cuniberti, Some Remarks on the Efficiency of Exequatur (568)
- Martin Gebauer, Das Prorogationsstatut im Europäischen Zivilprozessrecht (577)

- Reinhold Geimer, Internationales Zivilprozessrecht und Verfassung sowie International Fundamental Procedural Rights (589)
- Helmut Grothe, Internationale Gerichtsstände für Klagen gegen internationale Sportverbände aufgrund von Dopingsperren (601)
- Wolfgang Hau, Gegenwartsprobleme internationaler Zuständigkeit (617)
- Peter Hay, Favoring Local Interests – Some Justizkonflikt-Issues in American Perspective (634)
- Burkhard Hess, Die Reform der Verordnung Brüssel I und die Schiedsgerichtsbarkeit (648)
- Erik Jayme, Der Klägergerichtsstand für Direktklagen am Wohnsitz des Geschädigten (Art. 11 Abs. 2 i.V.m. Art. 9 EuGVO): Ein Danaergeschenk des EuGH für die Opfer von Verkehrsunfällen (656)
- Ulrich Magnus, Gerichtsstandsvereinbarungen im Vorschlag zur Reform der EuGVO (664)
- Heinz-Peter Mansel, Grenzüberschreitende Restschuldbefreiung – Anerkennung einer (automatic) discharge nach englischem Recht und ordre public (683)
- Jörg Pirrung, Vorrangige, beschleunigte und Eilverfahren vor dem Europäischen Gerichtshof in Ehe- und Sorgerechtssachen (698)
- Herbert Roth, Wer ist im Europäischen Prozessrecht ein Verbraucher? (715)
- Dennis Solomon, Der Immobiliargerichtsstand im Europäischen Zuständigkeitsrecht (727)
- Karsten Thorn, Internationale Zuständigkeit bei Persönlichkeitsverletzungen durch Massenmedien (746)

III. Rechtsvergleichung – Internationalisierung – Transnationales Recht

- Ulrich Drobnig, Der Zinssatz bei internationalen Warenkäufen gemäß CISG nach Rechtsprechung und Schiedspraxis (765)
- Angelika Fuchs, Schadensausgleich und Verhaltenssteuerung – Rechtsvergleichende Überlegungen zu den Zwecken deliktischer Haftung (776)
- Günter Hager, Haftung für vorsätzlich verursachte Vermögensschäden (Economic Torts) im englischen Recht (791)
- Helmut Heiss, Transnationales Versicherungsrecht – Eine Skizze (803)
- Peter Huber, Die Anwendung des UN-Kaufrechts durch Schiedsgerichte

(815)
- Peter Reiff, Die Erfüllung unionsrechtlicher Informationspflichten durch Inhalte einer Webseite (823)
- Gerhard Robbers, Entwicklungen der Menschenwürde (836)
- Thomas Rüfner, Chapter 15 des US Bankruptcy Code in der Praxis (843)
- Götz Schulze, Der anationale Geltungsgrund der UNIDROIT-Principles (856)
- Fritz Sturm, Gutachterhonorare – Wer haftet: Anwalt oder Klient? (865)
- Rolf Stürner, Die Bedeutung rechtswissenschaftlicher Dogmatik am Beginn eines Jahrhunderts fortschreitender Internationalisierung (877)
- Daniel Thürer und Jonathan Pärli, „Urbi et Orbi" – Zu Status und Geschichte der Stadt im internationalen Recht (888)

IV. Schiedsgerichtsbarkeit (Arbitration)

- Christian Berger, Schiedsrichtervertrag und Insolvenz der Schiedspartei (903)
- Klaus Peter Berger, Allgemeine Rechtsgrundsätze in der Internationalen Wirtschaftsschiedsgerichtsbarkeit (914)
- Jens Bredow, Zur „Volljährigkeit der Deutschen Institution für Schiedsgerichtsbarkeit" (928)
- Diederich Eckardt, Internationale Handelsschiedsgerichtsbarkeit und Insolvenzverfahren: Die Bestimmung des maßgeblichen Rechts (934)
- Ulrich Haas, Aufrechnung im Schiedsverfahren und Art. 19 ICC-SchO (949)
- Rainer Hausmann, Anwendbares Recht vor deutschen und italienischen Schiedsgerichten – Bindung an die Rom I-Verordnung oder Sonderkollisionsrecht? (971)
- Hans van Houtte, Revision of Awards Revisited (987)
- Ahmed S. El Kosheri, Reflections on the ICSID Annulment Decision Rendered in the FRAPORT/Philippines Case (996)
- Herbert Kronke, Principles Based Law and Rule Based Law: The Relevance of Legislative Strategies for International Commercial Arbitration (1002)
- Peter Mankowski, Schiedsgerichte und die Verordnungen des europäischen Internationalen Privat- und Verfahrensrechts (1012)
- Annemarie Matusche-Beckmann und Frank Spohnheimer, Überlegungen

zu den Rechtsbehelfen gegen den (Nicht-)Ausschluss befangener Schiedsrichter (1029)

- Thomas Pfeiffer, Pflicht zur diskriminierungsfreien Schiedsrichterauswahl? – Eine Skizze (1042)
- Klaus Sachs und Tilman Niedermaier, Overriding Mandatory Provisions Before Arbitral Tribunals – Some Observations (1051)
- Jürgen Samtleben, „Sandwich und Salat" – Zur Inhaltskontrolle von Schiedsklauseln in Formularverträgen (1066)
- Rolf A. Schütze, Die Bedeutung des effektiven Schiedsortes im internationalen Schiedsverfahren (1077)
- Matthias Weller, Aufstieg und Fall des Doppelexequaturs in der deutschen Rechtsprechung (1087)
- Ali Yesilirmak and Ceyda Süral, Timing of Examination by Courts in respect of Arbitral Jurisdiction under Turkish Law (1101)

Bibliografie Bernd von Hoffmann (1113)

Franzina (Ed.), Commentary on Rome III Regulation

The Italian journal Le Nuove Leggi Civili Commentate has published in its latest issue (no. 6/2011) an extensive commentary of the Rome III Regulation (Council Regulation (EU) No 1259/2010, implementing enhanced cooperation in the area of the law applicable to divorce and legal separation). The same journal had published, back in 2009, the first article-by-article comment of the Rome I Reg. (see our previous post here).

The commentary has been written, under the editorship of Pietro Franzina (Univ. of Ferrara), by a team of Italian scholars: Giacomo Biagioni (Univ. of Cagliari), Zeno Crespi Reghizzi (Univ. of Milano), Antonio Leandro (Univ. of Bari) and Giulia Rossolillo (Univ. of Pavia). Here's the comments' list:

Introductory remarks: P. Franzina, Z. Crespi Reghizzi; Art. 1: G. Rossolillo; Arts.

2-3: P. Franzina; Art. 4: A. Leandro; Arts. 5-7: G. Biagioni; Art. 8: Z. Crespi Reghizzi; Art. 9: G. Rossolillo; Arts. 10-13: A. Leandro; Arts. 14-15: P. Franzina; Art. 16: G. Rossolillo; Art. 17: G. Biagioni; Art. 18: Z. Crespi Reghizzi; Art. 19: G. Biagioni; Art. 20: G. Rossolillo; Art. 21: Z. Crespi Reghizzi.

A detailed table of contents is available here.